To whom it may concern

My name is Mukul Agarwal, founder of Mypustak.com (meaning My books), an organization committed to providing free books to everyone across every possible part of India. I am writing to recognize the leadership of Prithvi Parthasarathy, founder of StoryJourney.org, an organization dedicated to raising visibility for indigenous authors by collecting and spreading indigenous literature to schools in need. We are thankful for the books received from Prithvi. These books will help children in different parts of India to learn about peoples and cultures from all over the world. A literacy advocate and reading enthusiast, Prithvi is also the founder of Readindigenous.org which is aiming to provide various indigenous literature resources to children around the world. By organizing book drives, Prithvi ensures that our public schools have the resources they need to teach our growing student populations. Prithvi came across Mypustak.com, collected books, and shipped a donation of 250 pieces of books to schools that will be used across India - much to the appreciation of the staff and students. At a time when children are finding solace in stories, we are forever grateful that Prithvi has built this library of stories for the children. We are grateful to the administration and I wish him the very best in his future endeavors and look forward to working with him on the additional libraries he has planned for the schools in India.

Warm regards

Mukul Agarwal
